

"Miss Holiday Swing, or Holly as she's more commonly known amongst Family and Friends, first "trod the boards" at the tender age of five. Smiling, giggling and waving intensely to her parents in the audience, she had caught the Showbiz bug!

Holly continued to perform throughout her early years and teens before going to university to study Musical Theatre, first at Northbrook College in Sussex, and then at The American Musical Theatre Academy of London.

Her love of all things vintage first began when she formed part of vocal harmony trio, The Clover Sisters. These ladies performed at many festivals and entertained audiences up & down the country (and even France)! So when this period in her life ended, Holly was left with an extensive knowledge of Lindy Hopping, had gained a skill in Victory Rolls, and had a retro wardrobe to die for!

Thus came the birth of 'Miss Holiday Swing'! Debuting her solo show on board the German Cruise Liner, Aida. Since returning to land she has gone from strength to strength, expanding her repertoire from the 1920's through to modern day but always keeping that retro feel. Holly has performed at many prestigious events and venues including The War & Peace Revival, Twinwood Festival, The Kent & East Sussex Railway, Cahoots London, Battles for Victory and SAGA cruises (to name but a few)!

So with a performing background of more than 20 years and a taste for authentic vintage style, Miss Holiday Swing will be the perfect addition to any event or occasion adding a touch of glamour & nostalgia."
